Las Vegas, NV - Thousands of defenders of liberty are meeting at The Mirage Hotel and Casino July 13-16 for FreedomFest, “the world’s largest gathering of free minds.” The four-day conference features sessions on politics, entrepreneurship, finance, technology, free speech, women’s issues, and more. Emceed by Lisa Kennedy, attendees will hear from over 300 speakers, including Kitco News Editor-in-Chief Michelle Makori.

Within FreedomFest’s robust schedule is the Global Financial Summit, a conference track dedicated to investing and financial freedom. Dozens of financial experts – including Steve Forbes, Rosie Tran, Jim Rogers, Preity Üpala, Alexander Green, Heather Wagenhals, and Steve Moore – will provide practical advice on becoming financially free. Sessions and panels will focus on gold and silver, cryptocurrency, inflation, hedge funds, oil, and investment strategies.

FreedomFest is known for its lively debates. Several cryptocurrency debates are planned for this year’s big event, including Whole Foods Co-founder John Mackey and Alex Green facing off against Max Borders and Brian Robertson in “The Great Bitcoin Debate: Is Crypto the Biggest Ponzi Scheme Since the Dot.Com Era?” Actor/economist Ben Stein will debate Art Laffer on “Should We Raise Taxes on the Rich?” Legendary Jim Rogers will consider the question, “Which is a Better Investment, the U.S. or Emerging Markets?” with Fast-Money Alert editor Jim Woods. And long-term investor Mark Skousen will take on stock trader Mike Turner on “Buy and Hold, or Market Timing: Which Strategy is the Most Successful?”

The Eureka! Summit for Entrepreneurs and Small Businesses will make its debut at FreedomFest this year, providing a way for attendees to find greater freedom by owning their own business and generating new business ideas. From Wednesday to Saturday, CEOs and business experts such as Steve Forbes, TK Coleman, Magatte Wade, Jeff Barnes, and Jeffrey Hayzlett will provide invaluable insight on all stages of small business growth, from startups to mature businesses. The 13-session conference track will culminate in the Sharks & Angels Live! Pitch competition main stage finale.
